

Second Directed Exercise

Due: 25th January (10am)

- Your second directed exercise is due by 10am on Tuesday, January 25th
- Your assignment should be submitted to our Classes V*2 site under “Assignments” as an attached document.
- As you know from the syllabus, because this is a large lecture class, it is important to have explicit and uniform policies. Among those policies is the following:
  - Directed exercises will be marked down 1 point for each 24 hours that they are late (rounded up to the nearest 24 hours).

The second exercise has three parts, with point values indicated below:

For this week’s reading, we were presented with a number of ways of describing the sorts of conflicted experiences that Plato gives voice to in his discussion of Leontius (Republic 439e-440a, Grube/Reeve p. 115), and that Kahneman and others identify in their discussions of dual-processing.

Observe your actions for a day with this terminology in mind. For each of the following distinctions, describe an example from your own behavior using the vocabulary provided. (Each description should be 2-3 sentences.)

- (1) A case involving a conflict among Reason, Spirit and Appetite. (This might be a three-way conflict, or a case where two of the forces are aligned against the third.)
(1 point)
- (2) A case involving a conflict between System I and System II. (1 point)
- (3) A case involving a conflict between Belief and Alief. (1 point)
